※ You must be a Site Administrator to send the invitation to users

※ The Elite package provides all features in qTest

※ There are two license types in qTest that are available to the users:

✓ Named License

If an Administrator has X number of Total Licenses of Named license type, they can send out X number of qTest invites to the users

✓ Concurrent License

This type of license allows the Administrator to invite any number of users to qTest. However, it must be noted that not all those who are invited will be able to access qTest at the same time. The total number of users at any given point depends on the Total Licenses of Concurrent license type that the Administrator has. For instance, in the image below, you can see that the Administrator has 30 licenses, therefore only 30 users will be able to login in to qTest simultaneously; the 31st user will get an error when they try to login

※ Always check the Next Billing Date section to know the date/time when a qTest license will
